

Jose Luis López Cuadrado is a visiting professor in the Computer Science Department of Universidad Carlos III de Madrid. He holds his PhD degree in Computer Science by this University. His research interest is centred on Software Engineering, Recommender Systems and Accessibility. He is co-author of several papers in international journals, books and conferences, and he also collaborates as reviewer in several international journals.